SUNNTO GEKKO DIVE COMPUTER      For Sale at £110 was £167 new

With instructions of use

The Suunto Gekko is an ideal choice for sports divers who do not require PC interface interoperability or simulation features.

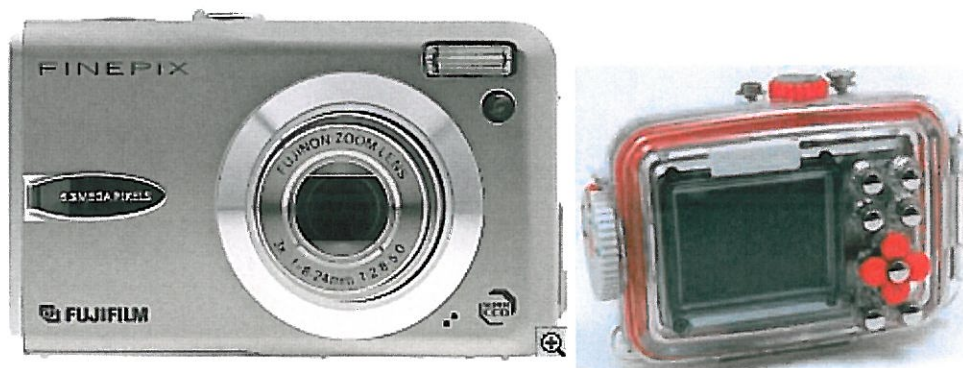

The Gekko can be used with both air and nitrox, and it is designed to give the specifics of any diving situation, including decompression, at a glance.

Suunto Gekko uses the Suunto Reduced Gradient Bubble Model (RGBM) decompression model and has a user-replaceable battery and adjustable metric/imperial units.

It is equipped with a super bright phosphorescent display that can be charged with a dive torch. This ensures that you can easily view the display in dark conditions for extensive periods of time

Dive rite Rec wing in blue, single bladder and Transpac in small - FOR SALE AT £ 200 is £330 new

Rec Wing is a single bladder air cell which can be used with both single and double cylinders. This wing can accommodate up to two 104-cubic-foot/16 litre back-mounted cylinders. They also incorporate a built-in gusset-control cord to help divers manage the shape and lift capacity of the air cell. The 15-mil urethane bladder is abrasion resistant, chemical resistant and resists the growth of microorganisms. The Rec Wing is designed for use with the TransPac, TransPlate or any webbing-style harness. Rec Wings are a good choice for divers who, while they may primarily use doubles, want to be able to configure their air cell for use with single cylinders as well. 51 lbs of Lift
